6 Tips for Cleaning Your Home Like a Professional

Start by Cleaning Small

Begin your cleaning journey in the least used room and gradually move to the more frequently used areas. This approach helps keep dust from settling back on spots you've already cleaned, making the cleaning process smoother.

Clean from Top to Bottom

When cleaning a room, always start from the top and work your way down. Begin with the ceiling, then tackle the walls, furniture, and finally, the floors. This way, any dust or dirt that falls gets cleaned up in one go, saving you from working double.
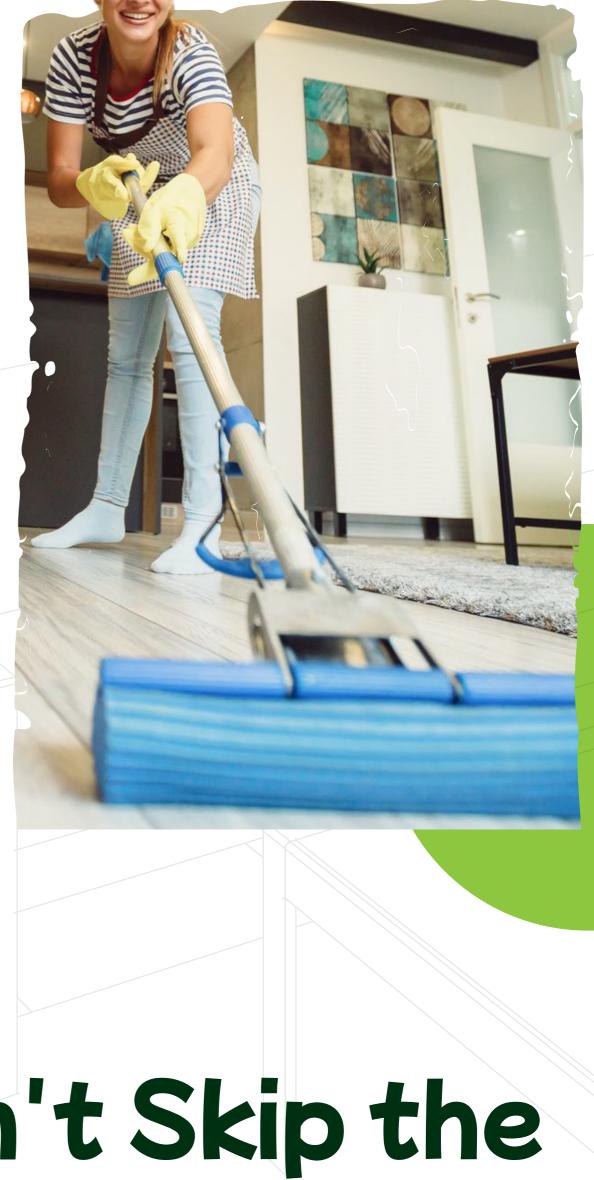

Give the Bathroom Some Love

Take your time in the bathroom by first decluttering and removing any debris. Clean the fixtures like tubs and sinks thoroughly, and be meticulous with the cabinets as they can get very messy—avoid using abrasive products on countertops!

Declutter the Living Room

Start by removing knickknacks and dusting surfaces like tables and shelves as you go. Use a damp rag to wipe these surfaces down. Take this chance to disinfect high-touch areas like doorknobs and light switches.

Don't Skip the Bedroom

Professionals never overlook the bedroom. Besides decluttering clothes, shoes, and other items, make sure to vacuum every nook and cranny. It's also important to change linens if necessary and clean windows, frames, and other reflective surfaces for a fresh, clean bedroom.

Save the Kitchen for Last

Since the kitchen is a high-traffic area, it's best to clean it last and be as thorough as possible. Move counter appliances and clean those hard-to-reach spots to ensure nothing gets missed—you must clean what's easily seen and what's hidden!
